

I consider my telephone service a convenience for me, and not for the convenience of others. The WI no-call list is working as intended, has drastically reduced the annoying phone calls I used to receive, and does not need to be modified by some federal rules.